

Funeral Photography

What to Expect

Some consider funerals too important not to be photographed. Being able to share the day & have something to look back on, can be a real comfort.

If you like the idea of funeral photography, let's meet. I'll fit in with your plans and my photography will be built entirely around your ideas and wishes and will include as much or as little of the day as you prefer.

When family and friends are unable to attend, I can be there for the personal, traditional & cultural tributes, so that everyone can see the touching ways you've remembered your loved one.

Photographs can be taken at different locations and as long as we have agreement/permission they can include, at home, in the hospital, at the receiving room, during the ceremony, in church and at the crematorium.

I can attend the graveside, memorial, woodland burial services and wakes, in fact, any location of significance. I offer unlimited photography on the day and will capture the moments between the hellos and goodbyes, candidly but sympathetically.

You'll be given a link to a private gallery for easy viewing, sharing and downloading.

If you prefer, I can compile a Book of Memories to hold the images I take. We can include other treasured photographs, farewell messages, the order of service or anything else that will make it into something special. A lasting memorial & a positive healing tool.
